TICKETS OFFERED BY SHOW ORGANIZERS TO a sleepless and hungry throng for a chance at a piece of heaven led instead to hellish death.

This, in a nutshell, was what Interior Undersecretary for Peace and Order Marito Corpus said of the circumstances behind the stampede on Saturday that marbled what was to be the first anniversary celebration of ABS-CBN's daily association show "Wowowee."

"They were exploited, manipulated and treated like animals," Corpus said yesterday at a news conference called to present the findings of the inter-agency Task Force Ultras.

"Offering so few tickets to so many people can be blamed to showing a small slice of what is a pack of hungry wolves. This happened for the stampede," he said.

Corpus, however, would not criminal liability awarded those deemed responsible for the unnecessary show, the enormous crowd that had gathered, the stampede, and the way the crisis was handled.

Asked why he would not name names given the task force's fast-blasting task, Corpus said at least three persons from among those involved in safety and secu-

Gov't could cancel ABS-CBN license

A POWERFUL STATE REGULATOR body yesterday said ABS-CBN could lose its authority to run one of the country's giant television networks but this would depend on the degree of its offense in the wake of last weekend's deadly stampede.

If the National Telecommunications Commission determines that the network was delinquent in providing enough measures to protect those who went to see its popular "Wowowee" game show, its authority to operate could be suspended or even revoked, NTC Chief Ronald Solis said.

The NTC is the sole body with responsibility to supervise and control all radio and television broadcasting stations and other telecommunications services throughout the country.

"We will find out if indeed there is administrative culpability on the part of the network," Solis said.

"The most severe penalty is revocation of authorization... But it really depends on the gravity of the offense. We will have to weigh this carefully."

Solis denied the government was trying to lean hard on the Lopez-owned network giant, which has been critical of the Arroyo administration of late.

Just last year, Manny Pacquiao and his girlfriend of more than two years were two people blissfully enjoying stolen moments together.

Their relationship resulted in the birth of a healthy boy, according to Pacquiao's girlfriend, Today Saraco is promoting a complaint against Pacquiao for violation of Republic Act No. 9962, which promotes women's freedom, and to seek support for the law.

Gabby outraged by opinion of probe chief

A GRIM FACED EUGENIO

"Gabby" Lopez III yesterday claimed responsibility for the Saturday stampede that killed 74 people, but said he was "not rigid" at the statement of the Task Force Ultras chair that the crowd seeking entry to the "Wowowee" anniversary show had been "treated like animals."

In a brief advisory message, the chair and chief executive officer of ABS-CBN said the network would continue to work with the government. He said there would be "no retaliation," apparently alluding to speculation that ABS-CBN could influence the outcome of the investigation ordered by President Macapagal-Arroyo.

This was the full text of Lopez's message:

"I am responsible and I will hold myself accountable should our justice system as determined in the future. There will be no retaliation. We will continue to work with the government and all its agencies."

"Hiring said that, we are engaged at the task force statement characterizing our program as one where we treated people like animals. That record over the last 30 years speaks for itself. We have over 100,000 people—over the years

"While we acknowledge that we may possibly have had some shortcomings, a cautious and multi-sided approach for the people is not one of them."

On the eve of the stampede, ABS-CBN executives in charge of the show had decided to sell the crowd record under the Philippine Amusement and Gaming Corp. (PAGCOR) to the city of Manila. They said everyone hunting the cancer monster. The Philippines has won a $4.86-million grant from an international pharmaceutical company to jump-start a campaign against childhood cancer.

The winning proposal of Dr. Josiah Leoneson of the Philippine Society of Pediatric Oncology (PSPO) will receive roughly P3.12 million from Sanofi-Sintelabo, the top drug company in Europe and the third largest in the world.

Leoneson's project, which outlines the creation and training of multidisciplinary teams to help combat cancer among children nationwide, started at least six other local entities vying for the grant launched by Sanofi-Sintelabo and the International Union Against Cancer last year.

Leoneson's winning proposal involves two phases aimed at creating awareness about the serious problem of childhood cancer and mobilizing people to do something about it.

Some 3,500 Filipino children are diagnosed with cancer yearly, according to the 2003 Philippine Cancer Facts and Statistics.

The Philippines is among the 10 poorest countries in the massive campaign against the disease. The others are Bangladesh, Egypt, Honduras, Mexico, Senegal, Sierra Leone, Ukraine, Venezuela and Vietnam.

In a press conference in Quezon City yesterday, Leoneson said these countries were chosen probably because their cancer problems were "linked to poverty."

Of the 3,500 cancer cases diagnosed annually between 40 and 60 percent involve acute lymphoblastic leukemia and retinoblastoma (eye cancer).

"Only two out of 10 patients survive while at least eight out of 10 are already in the advanced stage [when diagnosed]," Le-

The man, identified in US documents as "Isidoro Espinoza" Raymond Clark Dominguez, was arrested on Monday at the US International Submarine in Las Piñas, police Sgt. Eduardo Carpio said.

Carpio led the group of agents from the National Anti-Kidnapping Task Force (NAKTF) and the Philippine Commission for Transnational Crimes who carried out the arrest.

A team of US federal members from the District of Guam had been in Manila since Wednesday last week to help the Philippine police track down Dominguez.

"He did not want arrest," Carpio said.

Dominguez was to have been deported to Guam last night but his departure was delayed pending the processing of his papers. He was expected to be flown out of the country today.

The US team, headed by Deputy Justice Barry coordinated with Carpio's office in pursuing Dominguez's case.

US documents describe Dominguez as a Filipino descent who was born in the United States and is also known as Raymond Dominguez Dominguez.

Quoting documents, police said Dominguez and Guam after two warrants of arrest were issued against him for two cases of molesting, one in 2004 and another in 2005.

He was also being investigated in connection with other cases of child lecher, according to the documents.

An information profile on Dominguez from the US District, identified in Guam described him as a "sexually violent predator."

The Regional Security Office of the US state department had cancelled Dominguez's passport, making him an undocumented

City public school.

Ms. Arroyo asked the students at the public school to explain the picture, as she read to them a story about how a boy dreamed of being a major man and going to a special place.

Before reading "Major Man," she posed the 7-year-olds with questions about geography and their comprehension of the English language.

Reading a story, Ms. Arroyo made sure that the kids were in a comfortable position to read.

The first asked for a world map and worked hard to find a globe that had kids more able to picture.

Asia's biggest

Using the globe and later a world map, she presented the children to look with yellow "just a" under countries that belonged either to the East or the West, a study the children did not find too difficult.

The children responded enthusiastically when she asked them what the "biggest piece of land" in the world was.

She then took with her answer "China," but the President said it was "Asia," pointing to the globe.

Ms. Arroyo, who was smiling, had to put on her sunglasses, apparently said "correct" and "yes" when the children gave the right answer.

Asking

Like most in the classroom and wrote down some words such as "climate" and "major," and then asked the children which of the words were answers to her questions.

After the exercise, Ms. Arroyo presented to read the book directed by Virginia Arroyo about how a boy named Tobi dreamed one night of being a major man.

Through the story, she learned to the children how to be able to travel to magical places in the forest of the West.

Heaven

After the first, she asked questions to find out whether the children had understood the story.

PUPILS' PLEASURE Students of the Andres Bello Integrated School in Marikina City are treated to story-telling by President Arroyo while, through the Dept. of Health's program of English-Mode Reading, encouraging reading. "This was the most really magical," the President asked.

"No," said the boy named Tobi, who had been playing most of the night around in his questions.

"Because it's so dream," he said, prompting the President to say "very good, Tobi."

Thinking the children he liked, Ms. Arroyo said the words in the story were the "importance of being instructional materials" in reading to them it would be more "correct" to read.

Accompanying Ms. Arroyo were her chief of staff Michael Defensor, Marikina City Mayor Reginald Camacho, and her Vice Mayor, Nita Defensor-Molina.

Defensor said the 1900 children was just of the 11.7 million that the Department of Education had added to its budget for the year for textbooks and instructional materials.

Mass teaching

Defensor said Ms. Arroyo was supposed to stay any long enough to read the children stories but she told him she wanted to see how competent the children were in the English language.

The first that the Arroyo spent time with was made up of 11 children, 4 of whom were students of Defensor.

"The President really took her time," Defensor said in a phone interview. "Maybe she missed some, but she was very attentive."

Ms. Arroyo spent roughly 10 minutes at Andres Bello Middle School.

"It's important to diagnose [the disease] at the earliest stage," Dr. Victoria Gonsky, RPD president, said at the press conference. "If you, treatment would be more difficult, costly, and with attendant complications."

1st, 2nd stages

The first stage involves the creation of multidisciplinary teams that will manage cases in their respective areas. This includes an oncologist, pediatric surgeon, pediatric radiologist, and pediatric pathologist.

There will only be 20 members, the RPD is fully present in major areas in the country. They are deployed in northern Luzon (San Francisco, La Union, Cagayan Valley, Cebu, Ilocos, Baguio City, Iloilo, Zamboanga, Marikina, Southern Luzon, San Jose and Pinar del Rio, and Tondo).

In the second stage, "front-line" doctors will be trained in the early diagnosis of cancer among children.

"Sometimes, a child is innocent and the doctor would think it's just a new delivery, not knowing that it's already in early signs of leukemia," Leones said. "Sometimes, a child keeps bumping into things because he can't see properly. It may be a sign of retinoblastoma."

A parent group, "Pediatric Health Gals," will help disseminate information about child health concerns while generating support among parents and communities.

Forex reserves hit all-time high of $20.5B

By Corrie S. Narula

End-January level boosted by gov't bond flotations

THE PHILIPPINES' gross international reserves breached the $20-billion mark for the first time in history to hit a record $20.5 billion as of end-January, boosted by the government's fresh fiscal year the global bond market. Foreign Source by Philippine Overseas Investment Strategy & Research announced that the end-January USD registered a 1.64-percent increase from the $20.2 billion posted in last December 2005.

"There was good high end level was attributed mainly to the deposits by the national government of its proceeds from the Global Bond and Euro Bond as well as the foreign source's income from investments abroad," Foreign Source said.

Following a series of improving confidence among foreign investors, the national government raised $2.1 billion from local government offerings last month.

"These billions were, however, partly offset by payments of maturing foreign exchange obligations of the national government and the BSP," Foreign Source said.

For the year, the BSP successfully repaying a GFI bond up to $1.6 billion.

Foreign Source said the fresh external borrowings that supported the GFI last month would be used to cover the government's foreign exchange requirements this year, but he stressed that the BSP would continue to keep a comfortable level of national reserves.

The GFI value in the BSP's gross foreign currency holdings and is a key indicator of a country's ability to service external obligations like importation and debt servicing.

"The current GFI is adequate to cover about 12 months' worth of imports of goods and payments of services," Foreign Source said.

"This level is also equivalent to 2.3 times the country's short-term debt based on original maturity and 1.6 times based on reamortization," Foreign Source said. Short-term debt based on original maturity refers to the outstanding external debt with original maturity of one year or less plus principal payments on medium and long-term loans of the public and private sector falling due within the next 12 months.

NOW IS THE BEST TIME TO DRIVE HOME A 2006 VOLVO. NEW PRICES WILL APPLY TO ALL MODELS BY 16 FEB 2006.

MYTH #1 AREN'T ALL CARS AS SAFE AS A VOLVO THESE DAYS?

Sadly, no. Although — strange as it might sound — we've tried to make sure they are. For example, when Volvo invented the three-point seat belt in 1959, we decided not to patent it so all manufacturers could use it — and save even more lives (we did the same thing when we invented the catalytic converter in 1970, incidentally. No patent).

Because when it comes to safety, we're utterly committed to going the extra mile. That's why we build all our cars to safety standards that go far beyond the EURO NCAP star system. No wonder that Folksam, a Swedish crash testing agency, has used data from real-life accidents to calculate that Volvo models are at least 30% safer than the average car. And for the annual Consumers Association safety tests, our whole range consistently beats many cars with a five-star EURO NCAP rating.

The same commitment drove our investment in our multi-million pound Safety Centre in Gothenburg, which has investigated over 10,000 real life accidents involving Volvo cars and used their findings to make our cars even safer.

And because we believe computer simulations tell only half the story, we also conduct over 200 full-scale collisions each year, based on what researchers discover on the roads.

We then use this information to create unique safety enhancements, from increasing the size of our crumple zones to help protect pedestrians to WHIPS (Whiplash Protection System) proven to reduce the risk of long-term whiplash injury.

MYTH #2 A VOLVO'S NATURAL HABITAT IS THE SLOW LANE

Or at the very most, the middle lane. But put your foot down in a Volvo these days and you'll find that myth disappears as fast as the cars in your rear-view mirror.

After all, Volvo was winning British Touring Car Championships when the competition was still sitting on their dais' shoulders in the stands. And we've carried that love of flat-out thrills into our production cars.

Take the Volvo S60 T5, for example. Available for test drives at Volvo dealerships — but in 2002, the very same car broke 18 land-speed records in 24 hours at Millbrook (including sucking up an average speed of 131 mph). Which makes it the only production car to hold such a record. It packs a mighty 250bhp under the bonnet and 250Nm of torque, yet balanced by an array of performance-enhancing technology designed to keep your car on the road and smile on your face. Slow? Sluggish?

Sorry, we've got to put our foot down on that one.

MYTH #3 OK, BUT AREN'T VOLVO FANS IN THE MINORITY?

Ah, you'd be surprised. In the past few years, it's been Volvo that's been getting the morning press hot under the collar, not the marquee you'd expect. In the words of an international morning correspondent, these day Volvos are cool cars to be seen at.

Even certain, more notoriously hard to please morning journalists have been bowled over — 'it must be the sheer beauty of the thing that made it head and shoulders above our lotteries. Influenced by the strong kick in the solar plexus, we truly felt that if power and excitement is what you want, this is what you need.'

So if you've ever felt inexplicable feelings of attraction towards a Volvo, take heart. You're not alone. Now, why not see where we're going?

MYTH #4 VOLVO CARS ARE SLEEK AND STYLISH.

OK, NOW THIS MYTH IS TRUE AND WE TOTALLY AGREE.

Take a look at our current car range and we're sure you'll agree we're definitely sexy and curvy — fluid lines, seductive curves, elegant profiles — you'll find them all over our 2006 range.

But don't take our word for it. The best way to really see how far we've come is to get behind the wheel yourself. So if you like what you read so far — the best is yet to come.

SIX MINI CARS (ALSO known as subcompacts) and five pickups were brought here yesterday in the "premiere grander" at Forre Hills in Antipolo to compete in their respective categories, and maybe even be judged as the Philippines' Car of the Year for 2006.

Extending category-champ Toyota's win challenge to the Honda Jazz and City, new Isuzu i-Series, Suzuki Swift, and Mazda D323, General Motors Aveo, which was announced in the class will go on to compete in the "mainstream" class (p. 25 and 26).

While the subcompact category has only six, the over 60 entering pickups from the Philippines—comprising the GM Aveo, Isuzu i-Series, and others—will be judged in the "mainstream" class.
